Privacy Statement

Thank you for visiting Notre Dame High School's (NDHS) website. Please take a moment and review our privacy statement. NDHS is committed to respecting the privacy and security of all users of our website, and to ensuring that we protect the rights of the NDHS community. Our policy describes the types of information that are included on our website and how it may be used. NDHS' privacy statement may require updates occasionally. We encourage you to review this Privacy Policy each time you visit our website.

Personal Information

Notre Dame does not collect personal information from users of our website without their knowledge. Personal information may be requested from you when you participate in certain online activities, including:

- Using or sending email to a NDHS provided email account.
- Completing and submitting a form to NDHS via an online application, comment form, survey form or similar online form available on our website.

Personal information you provide is used for the purpose for which it is collected and may be shared with employees, agents, and contractors of NDHS for the purpose for which it was submitted.

Anonymous Information – Log files

The NDHS website automatically records a limited amount of demographic information from the users of the school's website, which may include the country of origin of the visit, operating system and browser type that is used, frequency of visits, and other similar information. This information is collected and used for statistical analysis and comparison purposes only. NDHS uses the information collected and the related analysis to help NDHS communicate with its constituents more effectively.

Cookies and Links

A "cookie" is a piece of data stored on the user's hard drive containing information about the user. It enables NDHS to store and track what a user of the NDHS website is looking at during a visit. If you are concerned about the potential use of information gathered from your computer by "cookies," you can set your browser to prompt you before it accepts a "cookie." Most internet browsers have settings that allow the identification or rejection of "cookies." If you decide not to permit the use of "cookies" during your visit to NDHS' website, you may be unable to use certain functions on our website.

The NDHS website provides links to other websites. NDHS is not responsible for the privacy statements or content of other websites. NDHS' privacy statement does not apply when visiting non-NDHS sites.

Security

NDHS takes precautions to protect the personal information gathered through our website. When personal information is submitted, it is stored in a secure file on an NDHS server maintained in a secure environment and its access is restricted to authorized employees of NDHS. Only employees who need the information to perform a specific task are granted access to personal information.

Global Security Breach

This Privacy Statement describes, generally, how information is collected by the NDHS website and how the information collected is used by NDHS. This Privacy Statement does not constitute a guarantee of privacy, as it is possible for information collected to be disclosed without NDHS' knowledge or permission in certain circumstances. Although it is rare, in spite of extensive security measures, there is always a risk of an attack on the internet host or a compromise of security as a result of a virus. NDHS may also disclose certain information if it is required to do so by law or if we believe, in good faith, that such disclosure is necessary to (a) protect the rights and interests of NDHS or (b) protect the safety of any individual or the general public.
